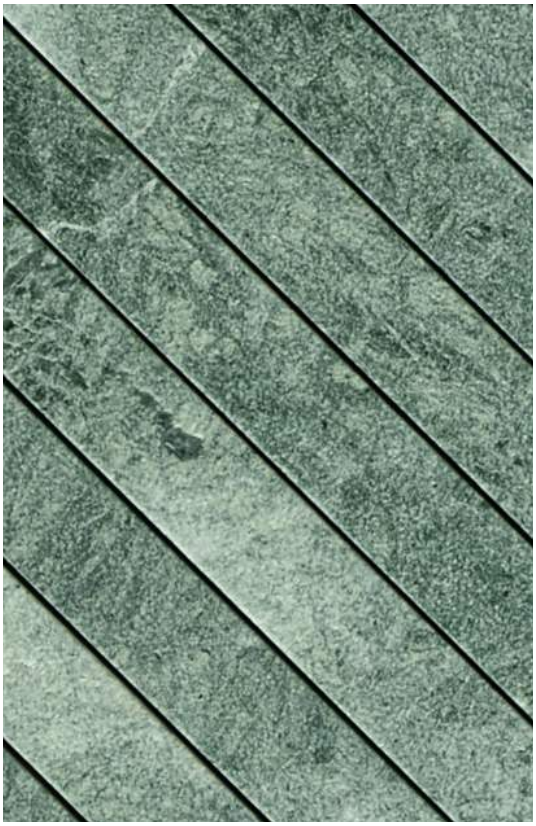
London Grey Piquet

Retro



Introducing the Retro marble tile range, a new linear natural stone collection full of tactile personality. Cut to an unexpectedly sleek 32mm x 305mm format, this collection breaks away from traditional proportions to bring a refined point of view.

A revolt against sharp industrialisation, each tile in this collection undergoes a slow, natural surfacing process. This gentle treatment softens the edges and mellows the stone's surface, lending a relaxed, time-honoured character. Two expressive surface options - Satin and Piquet - bring marble into the 21st century, with a variety of subtle variations and organic textures.

The elongated, slender profile invites endless design possibilities - lay it in traditional stack bond, herringbone or vertical runs for dramatic scale. A versatile palette of 12 natural shades have been carefully curated, ranging from soft architectural neutrals, warm hues to deep, grounding tones.
